

STEPone intern (m/f)

Integration-related internship as co-driver for refugees

Your opportunity:

- As a participant in our internship for refugees, you get the opportunity to start as a co-driver, with the prospect that you may be taken on as a permanent employee
- What awaits you is an interesting and exciting four-week to six-week internship. Based on agreement, the weekly working time amounts to around 24 hours
- You get the opportunity to take part in a German-language intensive course within your internship
- Following successful completion of the internship, you have the chance to enter working life as a truck driver. For the necessary driving licence, we provide you the financial part as well as a vehicle

Your profile:

- You have attended school for several years in your country of origin
- You speak German at B2 level
- Your strengths include the ability to work in a team, a willingness to learn and reliability
- You are interested in working with vehicles and technology