23rd International trade fair for plastics processing in Friedrichshafen

Interseroh presents plastic recyclates at Fakuma 2014

Cologne. INTERSEROH Dienstleistungs GmbH, a subsidiary of recycling specialist ALBA Group, is attending the international Fakuma trade fair for the first time, which is taking place from 14 until 18 October 2014 in Friedrichshafen. Interseroh will be using the world's biggest trade fair for industrial plastics processing to present the high quality plastic recyclates of Recythen and Procyclen to those visiting the fair.

Both recyclates are created in a production process developed in-house known as "recycled resource" and offer the plastics processing industry the required degree of quality according to the individual requirements. Both Recythen and Procyclen have a constant level of quality and have already proven their value in a wide range of different production processes, including injection moulding, blow moulding and extrusion. The areas of use are correspondingly wide ranging, and extend to include garden furniture, transport boxes, paint cans and office articles, for example. Both recyclates also boast an excellent environmental and climate performance. Procyclen can also be adapted in terms of its flowability, impact strength, rigidity as well as its UV and heat resistance, and thereby completely substitute new products.

In addition to an information stand, Interseroh will be attending the trade fair with a specialist presentation. On 16 October 2014, Ms. Dr. Manica Ulcnik-Krump, Research and Development manager for recycled-resource at Interseroh, will be speaking as part of the exhibitors' forum on the subject of "The evolution of plastic recycling: high quality recyclate compounds from used
